

Dear praying friends,

Greetings on a beautiful autumn day from Seoul. With the help of your prayers and the support of the staff and my lovely students, I've survived the challenges of my first term as a teacher here in Korea and a busy schedule with course preparation, teaching and correcting homework. In addition, we teachers were given some excellent required reading, which has helped us understand better how to teach in an Asian context. I'm presently on reading week, staying with Paul & Jinny Lim, the couple who met at Knox.

Sorry I haven't written much lately. My computer died on me, and I've had little time to spare. Our weekly schedule has included chapel, testimonies of teachers and visiting overseas workers, discussion of a missionary biography, reports from and prayer for graduates now on the mission field, planning and reflection, a Friday afternoon teacher's meeting and half-hour "one-on-one" conversations with the students and study hall supervision in the evening. It has been especially touching to hear the testimonies of some couples (past and present students) who have abruptly had their visas cancelled in their field of service and been required to return home and figure out what to do next.

In free time from 4 to 6 pm I sometimes went for a walk around town, picking up some fruit, soya milk, etc., or climbing further up our mountain, stopping to enjoy the beautiful view of the city from above.

A gorgeous Sunday afternoon on the south coast with Paul, Jinny and students.

After a fish dinner (mackerel) with the same friends on the night of my arrival in Seoul.

Sorry I haven't written much lately. My computer died on me, and I've had little time to spare. Our weekly schedule has included chapel, testimonies of teachers and visiting overseas workers, discussion of a missionary biography, reports from and prayer for graduates now on the mission field, planning and reflection, a Friday afternoon teacher's meeting and half-hour "one-on-one" conversations with the students and study hall supervision in the evening. It has been especially touching to hear the testimonies of some couples (past and present students) who have abruptly had their visas cancelled in their field of service and been required to return home and figure out what to do next

In free time from 4 to 6 pm I have sometimes gone for a walk around town, picking up some fruit, soya milk, etc., or climbing further up our mountain, stopping to enjoy a beautiful view of the city from above.

♪ Notes for Praise

- ♪ On-going, dedicated prayer and financial support received from my faithful brothers and sisters in the Lord on the home front.
- ♪ Good fellowship on the Lord's Day with a local Presbyterian church.
- ♪ Practical support in my work and cultural guidance received from the staff and other teachers.
- ♪ Progress and appreciation of my in-pur on the part of my students in English and frequent opportunities to relate to them and other students personally.
- ♪ The Lord's support, enabling me to keep up with the demands of an new course and corrections, live harmoniously in close quarters with four other ladies teachers and to adapt (slowly) to removing my shoes when entering our living quarters and to calling supper dinner, etc.

♪ Notes for Prayer

- ♪ Patient endurance & wisdom for the challenges of our second term of the semester, from November 19th to January 25th, 2019.
- ♪ good time management, especially self-discipline to get to bed in good time and get up in good time in the morning.
- ♪ again for my on-going adjustment to life here, growth in grace, good relations with colleagues, efficient lesson planning and some success in helping my new students with their English.

Grace and peace be yours in our dear Lord and Saviour, beloved!

Rosemary

rosemary.walker@aimint.org
www.mtikorea.org

Africa Inland Mission
1641 Victoria Park Avenue
Scarborough, ON M1R 1P8
Canada

- ✚ Paul Lim's mother had Jinny, Paul and me over for Sunday dinner.
- ✚ Receiving a blessing from Paul & Jinny's fellowship, Business Bible Belt in Seoul.
- ✚ BBB welcomes new visitors by singing a blessing over them.

